Pengrowth assessing potential of former Murphy holdings

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

One of North America's largest and most successful energy trusts is zeroing in on their property in the Lindbergh and Michel area, and introduced their plans for potential future development at a well-attended open house in Elk Point last Wednesday.

In 2004, Pengrowth Corporation acquired oil sands leases on more than 30 sections of land as well as the Murphy Canada production facility located along Hwy. 897.

Kevin Matieshin, Pengrowth's director of health, safety, environment and technical services, says the corporation is "assessing the viability of a pilot project. We're opening up and assessing the viability of the original equipment at the old Murphy plant."

In the Lindbergh lease area, Matieshin says, "we drilled three core-hole wells in July, and are doing core studies now. This will help us understand the geology and the best recovery scheme. We think it will be some form of steam injection."

Kevin Matieshin points out the proposed horizontal wells that Pengrowth plans to use in the pilot project.

Pengrowth exploring potential of former Murphy holdings

Part of the assessment process is studying the history of the Murphy operation, which started in 1974 as a small pilot project, and the levels of production over the years, Matieshin says.

"There has been a kit of new technology since then. Murphy used mostly cyclic steam injection, and in the 1990s they drilled some horizontal wells. One they used with vertical steam injection," Matieshin says.

Pengrowth's plans include drilling two horizontal wells, one above the other, and using a process called steam assisted gravity drainage (SAGD). Steam injected continuously into the top well heats the heavy oil and causes it to flow down through the sand below so it can be recovered in the bottom well.

The former Murphy holdings include a large deposit of heavy oil, Matieshin says.

"Typically, we're looking at an area 15 meters or more thick. I know we have lots of reservoir," Matieshin says the deposit is "thinner at the north end of the lease area, but there's lots of potential in other areas."

Pengrowth will concentrate their efforts on Section 13-58-5-W4, "and we may go into section 24. It's too early to tell that," Matieshin says. "The core looks pretty good. There's lots of black oil staining, and no evidence of shale or tighter sand that would be a barrier to the steam." He emphasized that the location of wells is very important. "We have to make sure they are placed properly. They're expensive to drill."

"I sure hope we can make a project out of it. It will depend on the oil prices, and the price of gas to make the steam."

Oil sands facilities project coordinator Shaun Byrne was busy at the open house pointing out the various facilities on a map of the former Murphy site.

"I think a lot of it is reusable. Murphy spent a lot of on the site in 1985 and '86. They were almost ahead of their time."

Information distributed at the open house indicates that future development could include both a new oil sands recovery project and/or the reactivation of some of the current wells and facilities in the lease area. The objective of the assessment currently underway is to enable Pengrowth to make a decision on an application to the EUB and other regulatory agencies in mid-2008.

Fur Trade Rendezvous gives taste of 2008

Mayor Parrish Tung welcomed the guests on behalf of the town, while Coun. Tom Kurek brought greetings on behalf of the County of St. Paul.

Donna Chamberland introduced the President of the David Thompson Brigade, Andy Korsos, who told of next spring and summer's commemorative voyage from Rocky Mountain House to Thunder Bay.

Sixteen voyageur canoes, each with six paddlers and four support staff, will make the journey, and will be joined along the way by contingents from various communities for part of the trek.

The brigade will leave Rocky Mountain House on May 10 and expects to reach Thunder by on July 12, Korsos said. He has contacted the communities along the route and says, "they can't wait for us to come."

"We encourage everyone to support what their communities plan for us. This is not just a re-creation, it's a way of paddling into the next generation."

Sheila Thompson said the brigade's visit is "a real inspiration." She is part of the planning committee for an adventure challenge commemorating the Thompson Bicentennial, which will take place May 31, involving Lakeland College's Adventure Tourism, the Iron Horse Trail, the Friends of the Forts, and Iron River Ranch. The day starts with a 10 km paddle from the Forts to Riverview, a walk or run to the Iron Horse Trail staging area in Lindbergh, then a bicycle ride on the trail to Buckingham House.

"The adventure challenge is a great opportunity to showcase our historic trails."

Friends of the Forts president Dennis Jasinsky introduced the evening's guest speaker, Lac La Biche historian and environmentalist Tom Maccagno.

"Where do you begin with David Thompson, and where do you end?" asked Maccagno. "His map covers most of western Canada."

He displayed a map which predated Edmonton and Calgary. "but does have Fort George and Lac La Biche on it. This is David Thompson's masterpiece." He presented a copy of the map to Donna Chamberland, noting that this map "was used until the 1920s. it was so accurate. The water routes were all there."

Maccagno traced Thompson's history from when a charitable school "paid the Hudson's Bay five pounds to get the boy off their hands," through his service with first the Hudson's Bay Company, including time at Buckingham House, and then with the rival North West Company, when he spent a winter at Fort George. Thompson's travels took him into the BC interior, and later, after he crossed the height of land, "the little divide," near Lac La Biche, up the Athabasca River and down the Columbia, discovering a trade route to the Pacific.

The evening continued with great fiddle music from the very talented Daniel Gervais, accompanied by his mother Patricia, on keyboard.

A silent auction, which drew lively bidding on more than 40 items, was also part of the evening.

EDITORIAL

New era begins

Today, as they say, is the first day of the rest of our lives, and in Elk Point, it is a day with a newly sworn in town council ready to take charge of our community.

The new council has 40 per cent incumbents, for continuity and carrying on with projects underway, 20 per cent previous council experience and longtime dedication to the community through volunteer service, and 40 per cent new blood, bringing with them a wealth of varied skills and new ideas that will enhance the mix.

It's a good balance of people who bring to the table their talents, their enthusiasm, their knowledge and their desire to serve the people of Elk Point. Those with experience will help the newcomers to get up to speed on current projects and priorities, and the newcomers will bring a fresh perspective to the mix.

Best wishes to all for a very successful three years.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Ice rinks, incumbents and improved service

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF OCTOBER 23 IN...

1987

Heinsburg Community School principal Laverne Wilson presented the citizenship award to Kristen Vinge and vice-principal Lorne Young presented the community recognition award to Vernon and Colleen Sharkey at the school's second annual awards night. Surveyor Eugene Bayduza, Jake Orr of JorAnn Enterprises and John Oryschuk Trucking all contributed their work on a new outdoor ice skating rink being built behind the A. G. Ross Arena, which was to be flooded by the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department with water provided free of charge by the Town of Elk Point.

1992

Ed Buck was back in the Elk Point mayor's chair after a six-year absence, and was also voted in as school trustee, with Betty Calbeck, Mae Hendrickson, Vern King, incumbent Lawrence Pidluzny, Danny Povaschuk and Bill Schuhmacher as the new town council. Incumbent Bob Smith was returned to his Division 1 post on county council, while newcomer Ray Danyluk took over the Division 2 seat, Marvin Bjornstad retaining his seat in Ward 2 of the Elk Point Hospital Board.

1997

A petition containing 405 signatures was presented to Canada Post officials, asking for improved postal service, due to the shortage of mailboxes and the resulting long line-ups to receive general delivery mail. Changes in Canada's pension plan and old age security were foremost in the minds of those attending a meeting with Member of Parliament Leon Benoit, who assured them there "would not be a dramatic reduction to most people."

2002

Minister of Community Development Gene Zwozdesky called the Friends of the Forts and the Fort George and Buckingham House Advisory Board, who hosted the Minister's Fur Trade Ball, "extremely valuable partners who help on a day-to-day basis to make sure people come - you can't put a dollar value on that." Town council settled on a long-term solution, opting for a permanent outdoor skating rink, to provide outdoor exercise for the whole family.

GUEST COLUMN

Block Parent Week

October 21 to 27, 2007 is National Block Parent Week.

Does Elk Point have a Block Parent program? The answer is, yes, we do. These homes who have a block parent sign placed in their window are available for anyone in distress, including children, teens, women and seniors.

Are there enough Block Parents in Elk Point? Block Parents always needs more volunteers so at least one sign can be visible at all times on each block. This requires a large number of approved volunteers because many volunteers find it difficult to display their signs more than a few hours a day or week. The more Block Parents our community has, the better it is protected.

from the FCSS desk

The question that can now be asked is: "Who can become a Block Parent?" Anyone over the age of 18 years who has successfully passed the screening process done by the police. Volunteers can be single, married, divorced, and may work outside the home. They do not have to have children, and seniors make great Block Parents.

Is there much work involved? No! It will not alter your lifestyle or make demands on your time. When you are "available" (which means you are home and able to answer the door to someone requiring assistance) simply display the sign in a window visible from the street. If a child is bothered by a stranger or a bully, is sick, hurt or lost, he knows that when he sees the sign, a "safe adult" is there to offer help.

The final question: "Would you like to become a Block Parent?" Call the FCSS office at 724-3800.

We would also like to thank all our current Block Parents. You are valuable.

With bullying as well as vandalism being concerns in our community, the question becomes, "what are we as a community doing about our concerns?"

The Block Parent program is one source of help, but there needs to be more done. In regard to the bullying, some steps have been taken through the educational focus. Through monies raised, we are fortunate in being able to bring in a speaker from "Dare to Care" for Grades 9 to 12 on Tuesday, Nov. 6 and Grades 7 and 8 on Wednesday, Nov. 6 for F. G. Miller. Then, another speaker is booked at the Elk Point Elementary School on Nov. 6.

In regard to the vandalism concern, that is an issue which is hard to deal with and it seems to be continuing to take place. This reminds me of a study that was done 38 years ago. In 1969 a Stanford University psychologist named Philip Zimbardo set up an experiment. He arranged for two cars to be abandoned - one on the mean streets of Bronx, New York, the other in an affluent neighbourhood near Stanford in Palo Alto, California.

The license plates had been removed, and the hoods were left open. Zimbardo wanted to see what would happen to the cars.

In the Bronx, he soon found out. Then minutes after the car was abandoned, people began stealing parts from it. Within three days, the car was stripped. When there was nothing useful left to take, people smashed windows and ripped out upholstery, until the car was trashed.

In Palo Alto, something quite different happened: nothing. For more than a week the car sat there, untouched. Zimbardo was puzzled, but he had a hunch about human nature. To test it, he went out and, in full view of everyone, took a sledgehammer and smashed part of the car. Soon, passersby were taking turns with the hammer, delivering blow after satisfying blow. Within a few hours, the vehicle was resting on its roof, demolished. The experiment gave rise to the now-famous "broken windows" theory of crime, which is illustrated by a common experience. When a broken window in a building is left unrepaired, the rest of the windows are soon broken by vandals.

The question now becomes, "Can we liken this experiment to the vandalism concern in Elk Point?" The answer is, probably. In other words, we need to educate the ones who are doing the vandalism that it is not acceptable. We need to send out the message that this is a community where behaviour does have consequences.

Shopping frenzy fills Derwent Rec Centre at biggest sale ever

By VICKI BROOKER
Staff Writer

Close to 650 eager shoppers converged on Derwent last Saturday for the annual Trade and Craft Show. Both floors of the Derwent Recreation Centre were filled to capacity by the 48 vendors who manned a total of 98 heavily-laden tables.

"This is our biggest show ever," said organizer Debbie Nazarchuk. "We had to turn away people who wanted tables, and there are a lot of new tables this year."

Nazarchuk credited "the best weather we've ever had" for attendance by "the best crowd ever. We usually get 400 to 450. It's a big improvement over last year, when we had freezing rain."

There was something for everyone at Derwent's gigantic trade and craft show, including the wealth of Christmas decor items shown at left.

Jackson Kjenner shows off his favourite bird feeder - a sporty camouflage model - at the booth he shared with his mom, Tracy, and fellow crafter Erna Holliday at the Derwent Trade and Craft Show on Saturday.

Co-founder and editor-in-chief Jackie Ludlage and her mother, Donna Gulayec, were on hand at Derwent to offer copies and subscriptions for the very successful Canadian Scrapbooker magazine, which is now going into its third exciting year.

Sharlene Berland received congratulations on the achievement of her high school diploma from her family and the community at Chief Napewaew School's graduation ceremonies on Oct. 11.

Graduates celebrated at Chief Napewaew School

By MARY JANE QUINNEY
Frog Lake School

Thursday, October 11, 2007 marked the celebration by the Berland and Smith families of their children's accomplishment of receiving their Alberta High School Diploma. In recognition of this accomplishment, members of the community gathered to celebrate Sharlene Berland and Cody Smith's graduation. In a beautifully decorated gymnasium with the theme "Mamawokamatotan," (we work together), a delicious meal was shared and the guests were entertained by accomplished pow-wow dancers from Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The ceremonies began with a Grand Entry led by Sharlene's uncle,, Gary Berland ,accompanied by singers from Big Bear and Northern Cree. Elder Bill Peechow offered the opening prayer, which was followed by the principal's remarks. Mrs. O'Dell thanked the creator for the opportunity to celebrate the hard work that made this possible.

Marmie Quinney sang "Anyway" as Sharlene Berland entered the gymnasium through the Teepee Arch. Darcy Stanley spoke of the determination of the graduates to complete what they started.

The guest speaker,

Austin Tootoosis, celebrated the beginning of a new era for Aboriginal Education with the arrival of the Aboriginal professionals such as doctors, lawyers and engineers. He recognized the importance of Aboriginal educators and administrators as an integral influence in the field of education. He likened the leaders to the buffalo plowing through all difficulties to make way for the young.

Sharlene Berland thanked her family and in particular her mother for her encouragement, help and support in the task of completing her grade 12. Annie Stanley spoke on behalf of the Smith family, in recognition of Cody Smith's completion of Grade 12. Stanley spoke of the family's pride in Cody's accomplishment.

Albert Berland presented the graduates with eagle feathers, the Cree symbol for guidance and protection in life's journey. Wayne Faithful offered congratulations on behalf of the Chief and council and presented the Viola Faithful Memorial Award, which will be shared between Sharlene and Cody. John Littlewolf spoke on behalf of his family and made an offering for a round dance. The ceremonies closed with the dancers leading out the Eagle staff.

F. G. Miller High School in mourning

Students and staff of F. G. Miller High School mourn the loss of student Timmy Quinney, who lost his life in a vehicle rollover on Oct. 13. Grief counselors were called in to help deal with the loss of a good friend, and the students set up a table where memorial donations and messages of condolence for the Quinney family were collected, along with get-well wishes for two other students injured in the crash. Investigation of the crash by RCMP is still ongoing.

Legion ready for annual Poppy Campaign

By ROGER FREEMAN

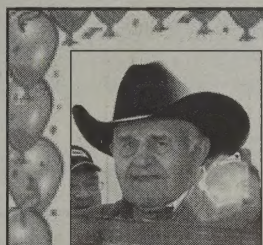

Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 100

Once again, Remembrance Day is fast approaching, and the Royal Canadian Legion will be starting its annual Poppy Campaign. In the past two years, since the amalgamation of the Elk Point Legion with the St. Paul Legion, over $2,000 has been raised in the Elk Point area through the Poppy Campaign.

In those same two years, over $4,000 has been donated back to the community of Elk Point and surrounding areas, in Poppy monies as well as non-Poppy monies. The monies have been given to various organizations, such as the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department, F. G. Miller High School, Elk Point FCSS, the Stoney Lake Stampede Association, Heinsburg School and Heinsburg Community Hall, to name but a few.

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 100 in St. Paul and Elk Point is hoping for another year of outstanding support from Elk Point and area in the Poppy Campaign. It is also calling on any non-profit organization in need of funding support to contact the Royal Canadian Legion with their request. Please address any requests to: The Poppy Chairman, Royal Canadian Legion, Box 1056, St. Paul, AB, T0A 3A0

Library Month wraps up with info, stories

By DAPHNE SCHNURER
Librarian

The big count is on this week, with the library closed for inventory, but we'll be back open and in business next week, just in time to wrap up Library Month with two special events.

Tuesday, Oct. 30, is your opportunity to learn more about The Alberta Library card and all it offers. For instance, you can:

- learn how to order from millions of books online;
- visit and borrow materials from any participating library across the province;

■ learn how to access online data bases offering a wealth of information, such as online newspapers and magazines, automotive repair, business news, health and wellness, fiction and literature, encyclopedias, history and sciences;

■ getting your card is as easy as purchasing a library membership.

Halloween is coming up on Wednesday, Oct. 31 and we hope all the trick-and-treaters and their parents will stop by the library for some hot chocolate and a spooky story or two, while the adults can have their tea eaves read.

'Kitchen cupboard' needs help to aid in emergencies

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

One role that many churches play is to help those in need, and Elk Point's Christian Community Church is no exception.

"We have a kitchen cupboard," says church member Ruth Vogel. "It's not a regular food bank, but we help one or two families a year, people who may find themselves in town without any food or money. FCSS knows about it, and has sent people to us."

To this point, the contents of the cupboard have come in the form of donations from church members, usually at the time when help is needed. Now, Vogel says, "we've decided we have to do something to fill the cupboard."

The ladies of the church came up with the concept of a toonie lunch, which Vogel says will not only provide the means to fill the cupboard, but also gives seniors an opportunity to get out and enjoy each other's company. The first lunch will be held at the church at noon this Wednesday, Vogel says, "and we'll see how it goes."

If the event is a success, "we'll have to make up some guidelines" regarding distribution of the assistance.

Football in playoffs as hockey hits the ice

Today's sport story is dedicated in memory of a special friend, Timmy Quinney. Timmy, one of my work experience kids, loved playing every sport, but he especially liked coming down to the rink to help sweep up, dump garbage cans, make the ice, and of course go out for a little shinny afterwards. I'm going to miss my little buddy, but he'll always be riding shotgun in my heart, and he won't even have to call it!

Bengals, Lions in playoff rounds

Two weeks ago first star Stephan John and the Bengals swallowed Wainwright 46 to 25. This past weekend they were off and running in the first round of playoffs, pounding Lac La Biche 49 to 8. The Bengals rely on their running game, and running is the name of the game for the tall lanky speedster "Dirty Harry" Harrison Maas, who cashed in with three touchdowns. Mark Proski with a field goal, Jordan Mudryk and Cody White playing super in the defensive backfield, along with defense lineman John Waboose shut them down, and Wacy Durocher as well, who picked up a fumble recovery.

They played a sloppy second quarter, but they still came out on top, the Lions posted their first win in the post season 31 to 14 over Vermillion. Two big touchdowns for Bryant Schnurer, Tyson Proski with a touchdown, one field goal and four conversions. A touchdown for the big running back Adam Hymanik in his very first game back with the team after breaking his collarbone earlier in the season. Matt Boyko and Randy Merkel both had strong games before they were injured in the first half. Derek Wruth, holding his ground, was solid on the defensive line.

This coming weekend both the Bengals and Lions will be playing at home once again, the second round of the post-season, the Bengals taking on Cold lake at 11a.m., the Lions hosting Wainwright at 2 p.m.

Peewee Avalanche test the waters

Sink or swim, sometimes you just have to jump in. The Peewee Avalanche are testing the waters in the tier one league this year and played first game of the season, an exhibition game against the tier one team out of Bonnyville on Sunday afternoon at the Dome in Elk Point. If fact it was the first game of the year for any of our teams and a few kinks needed to be worked out, not only with the team, but the timekeeper and soundman needed some retraining as well. Coming back to compete against his old teammates, and playing defense for the Pontiacs was a former Avalanche player with some great blood lines, Zachary Ference.

The Avalanche had to bite the bullet in this one, Trevor "he Kid" Ballas with the first goal for the Avalanche in a losing effort, assisted by Matthew "Bruise Brother" Jenner. "Dan the man" Garrett also scoring assisted by Rylan Buffalo. Making some dandy saves, goalie "Mr. Scrooge" Brayden Vinge facing 58 shots in the first game of the year. Great fore-checking and back-checking for Logan "Paycheck" Becker, Skyler Ewasiuk mucking it up in the corners, coming up with the puck. And still playing with the boys and not intimidated in the least bit, Lindsey "Goldilocks" Mac-Donald was solid on the "D".

Happy birthday tomorrow to "Mr. Scrooge's" younger sister, Hayley, who is also an up-and-coming young hockey player.

Quote of the week

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week: "Every day is a great day for hockey" Last week's answer to: "Roses are red. Violets are blue. They got ten. We only got two." - Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers.

Bassett selected for volunteer award

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

The Review's own sports newshound, Doug Bassett, recently received what may be his most exciting news ever.

The Minister of Tourism, Parks, Recreation and Culture, Hector Goudreau, sent him a letter advising him that he is one of four Albertans selected to receive a 2007 Recreation Volunteer Recognition Award.

"Through your commitment and dedication, you have played a large part in advancing the development of recreation in Alberta," Goudreau said.

Bassett is scheduled to receive his award later this month at the Alberta Tourism, Parks, Recreation and Culture's annual Energize Workshop, held in conjunction with the Alberta Recreation and Parks Association's annual conference.
